UNITED FUND KICKOFF DINNER TONIGHT

Lynn Grove Alumni Group Meets

The Lynn Grove Alumni Association held its third annual banquet on Friday night, November 25, at Lynn Grove High School. Graduates from seven states were served with a delicious meal prepared by the Parent-Teacher Association.

There were approximately one hundred and twenty-five people present. All graduating classes since the first class of 1923 were represented with the exception of four. The association also heard from many graduates who were unable to attend. One of these was James H. Kels, a missionary in South America.

A business session was held and new officers were elected to head the alumni association for the coming year. Charles Baugh was elected president to take the position held by Hoyt Jones this year. Charles Baugh, who served as vice president, was succeeded by T. "Bill" Arnett. Mrs. Bobby Grogan replaces Mrs. H. S. Rogers as secretary and W. D. Kelley will take over the position of treasurer. Carol M. Rogers served as treasurer this year.

The outgoing officers of the alumni association expressed the desire to thank all who helped in any way to make the dinner a success.

Ward Submits Resignation; Outlines Recommendations

FRANKFORT, Ky. - Henry Ward today submitted to Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby his resignation as commissioner of Conservation, to be effective December 12.

Ward told the Governor that he plans to continue his activities in behalf of Kentucky natural resources programs in a federal position at Washington. He said that details of these plans will be announced later.

"The almost eight years that I have spent as commissioner of conservation have been the most satisfying and fruitful of my life," Ward said in his letter to Governor Wetherby. "I appreciate the opportunity that you and former Governor Earle C. Clements gave me to work on programs in which I had developed a keen interest both as a newspaperman and a state legislator."

"You and Senator Clements gave to Kentucky the kind of far-sighted and devoted leadership that is necessary to solve the problems which beset our people. Both of you demonstrated conclusively to me that you were willing to adopt positions and policies which might not have been the best for you politically but definitely were for the best for Kentucky. That is the mark of a true statesman."

Ward cited progress that has been made in the Department of Conservation during his tenure, particularly in programs relating to natural resources.

"Although Kentucky has a long way to go, I am proud of what has been done in the forestry program," he said. "When I became a member of the state legislature in 1924, the appropriation to the Division of Forestry was $8,000 a year. The budget for the present fiscal year is $513,215."

"Kentucky's forestry resources are of vital importance to her future. Of greatest importance, in my judgment, is the extension of fire protection on a state-wide basis, and the building of a new nursery to produce seedling for reforestation. The state is now producing only a fourth of the seedlings used for this purpose, and many more are needed."

"The program to control strip mining, of coal to reclaim land damaged by this activity which was launched under your administration and through your leadership has made substantial progress during the last year and a-half, and should be continued."

"State leadership to push forward programs of flood control, water-pollution control and abatement and the conservation of our soil should be expanded. The part that I have played in these efforts during the past eight years has convinced me that the state cannot do these jobs alone, and that we must demand increased attention to these problems by the federal government."

"Kentucky has received national recognition for its development of a state park system and public utility program under your leadership and that of former Gov. Clements. The tourist business has grown into a tremendous industry in Kentucky, with benefits that flow in many directions, including the state treasury. The state is justified in continuing its partnership with private business and such agencies as the State Chamber of Commerce in the development of the parks as tourist attractions and the publicizing of them and other scenic and historic points of interest."

"It is my considered judgment that the state should continue to operate the state parks and their facilities, but I believe that some form of organization must be developed that will make for a better business arrangement than the present political system provides."

"The operation of state parks has grown into a business with a volume of almost two and a half million dollars a year. That business cannot be kicked around as a political football if it is to produce the best results for the state. I personally feel that a non-profit operating arrangement that will give continuity to policy and personnel is the answer."

A SPURNED LOVE ended in death for United Airlines stewardess Sally Shedd, 25, and woman-slayer Robert Clendenin, 26, New York stock broker trainee, when he shot her to death and then turned the gun fatally on himself in Seattle, Wash. He entered her plane behind some 40 other passengers, had a few words with her, then fired four times, two bullets hitting her chest. Then he rained out of the craft and killed himself. Hospital Gets Good Report

A recent inspection of Murray Hospital by a representative of the State Department of Health indicated that the hospital was being maintained in a sanitary and orderly manner, according to a statement issued today by the hospital's administrator Mr. Karl Warming.

The inspection was made in accordance with the Hospital Licensure Act passed in the 1953 Kentucky General Assembly and the Hospital Licensure Regulations adopted by the Kentucky State Board of Health and approved by the Hospital Council.

The report from the State Board of Health concluded "The inspection reported that many improvements have been made in your hospital and this office appreciates your cooperation with the Hospital Licensure Program."

Hall Encouraged Over The Prospect Of Ike Running

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent
GETTYSBURG, Pa. - Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he felt "very much encouraged" about prospects that the President will run for re-election.

"So far as I am concerned, there is no other candidate," Hall told reporters after a 45-minute talk with the President in his temporary White House office here.

Hall made it plain that the President himself did not say or indicate what his decision will be about a second term.

"I can only speak my opinion," Hall said. "I can say I am very much encouraged."

The long private talk with Hall was Mr. Eisenhower's first admittedly political conference since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

Met Last Sept. 10
It was also the first time the GOP national chairman had seen Mr. Eisenhower since Sept. 10. Hall said his optimism about Mr. Eisenhower seeking re-election was based not only on the apparent good state of the President's health but also "from his attitude and his interests in what is going on - interest that goes beyond today or tomorrow."

"I am happy to say that all reports about his condition have been confirmed," Hall told newsmen.

"He looks a million per cent," Hall predicted the President will run in 1960 "if he feels able" and that he has made up his mind.

Steer With Bad Cold Carries Hopes Of Teenager

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP) - A steer with a bad cold carried his hopes of a pretty teenage girl in a competition with other steers at the International Livestock Exposition today.

The steer, "Liberty II," owned by 17-year-old Julie Haring, of Manly, Iowa, winner of the 1954 grand championship, today couldn't compete in the junior competition where the steer originally was entered.

But Sunday, show officials decided to allow Julie to enter her animal for the grand championship, anyway. The judging, which began today, will include a top steer raised by another teenager, 16-year-old Nancy Turner from near, Champion, Ill.

Nancy won the junior grand championship Saturday with her 986-pound Aberdeen Angus "Julius." In past years, the junior grand champion often has gone on to win the show's greatest prize, the grand championship. Last year's champion, "Shorty I" brought Janice $35,000.

Iowa State College walked off with the inter-collegiate livestock judging contest Sunday when its five-man team amassed a total of 4,384 points out of a possible 5,000. The 1954 winner, Oklahoma A & M, was second with 4,366 points, while Purdue's performance was judged third highest with 4,233.

A 13-year-old girl from Huntington, W. Va., meanwhile won the children's junior championship seal and hand-class in the horse show being held in conjunction with the exposition.

She is Linda Frankel who outperformed Susan Eslinger of Wonder Lake, Ill., the runner-up, for top honors in the event, sponsored by the Town and Country Equestrian Association.

First place in the five-gaited stallion or gelding event went to Swan Stables of Worthington, Ohio, with Chief Solitaire.

The program was presented by Mrs. G. B. Scott, chairman of the circle. She gave a most interesting talk from the book, "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" by Roy Smith.
Mrs. Scott told of the two hundred inch telescope atop Mt. Palomar in Southern California. She quoted from the book as follows: "If any man doubts the ability of God to see and hear one of his creatures, let him consider Dr. Williams' figures. If an instrument made by man is able to see a lighted candle fifteen thousand miles away, surely the Creator in whose image we are made and who can design a universe two billion light years in diameter, is able to keep watch over the sparrow's fall and the hairs of our head."
During the social hour the hostess, Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Julius Sharpe, served a party plate to each of the twelve members present.

Hand on Bottle Keep Foot Off Throttle

CHICAGO — If you've had your hand on the bottle keep your foot off the throttle.
That warning was issued by the national drivers today by the National Safety Council as it opened its annual Christmas safety campaign.
The campaign is aimed at reducing holiday accidents. Special emphasis will be on traffic accidents, which have taken an upward swing this year of about 6 per cent. A contributing factor to this increase is an even greater gain in motor-vehicle travel.
Heavier travel and the festive spirit of the Christmas season always add to the normal winter hazards of bad weather, slippery roads and added hours of darkness, the Council said.
In warning against driving after drinking, the Council said that one-fourth of all fatal traffic accidents involve a drinking driver or pedestrian. The conviviality of the holidays probably increases this percentage.

ROYAL MARRIAGE BREWING

Princess Aicha

King Faisal II

RETURN of Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef to throne of Morocco revives reports that his daughter, Princess Lalla Aicha, and Iraq's King Faisal II may be married. The princess is 26, the king 30. Her marriage to him would be a political triumph for Morocco, but perhaps a setback for French interests in North Africa. Iraq has been critical of France's policies. (International)
